HIS LIBERTY AT STAKE.

United States Senator on Trial For a Grave Offense.

SEQUEL TO A DEFALCATION.

Senator Kenney Charged With Aiding and Abetting Teller Boggs in Looting First National Bank of Dover, Del.—The Testimony.

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 6.—United States Senator Richard Kenney of Delaware was placed on trial in the United States circuit court for the second time on charges growing out of the First National bank of Dover by its cashier, William N. Boggs.

Senator Kenney was last arraigned on the charge of aiding and abetting Boggs in misapplying the bank's funds in last July, and after a trial lasting over one week, the jury disagreed. Since then the charge of conspiracy has been joined to the first charge. The discovery of a shortage in the bank came in May, 1897, when Cashier Boggs suddenly left Dover. The bank was found to have been looted in the sum of $107,000, or a little over its capital stock. President Richardson of the bank came to the rescue and saved the institution from failure.

Boggs subsequently gave himself up and admitted his defalcation, at the same time making statements which led to the arrest of Senator Kenney and several other citizens of Dover. Two of the latter have been convicted and are now serving terms in the Trenton penitentiary. Boggs pleaded guilty and is awaiting sentence. The evidence against Senator Kenney deals largely with numerous stock transactions in which he and Boggs were interested.

During his last trial, Senator Kenney was represented by Senator Gray, his colleague in the senate, and Levi C. Bird. Senator Gray is now in Paris with the peace commission and ex-Attorney General John Biggs is assisting Mr. Bird. District Attorney Vandergift represents the government in the prosecution.

Court did not open until late, but the accused senator was on hand early. After the usual preliminaries, the jury was quickly selected. It is said to be composed of seven Democrats and five Republicans. In his opening address to the jury, District Attorney Vandergift said he would be able to prove that Senator Kenney drew money from the bank to which he was not entitled, and used it to tide over difficulties brought upon him by stock speculations. He said that by an arrangement with Boggs, Senator Kenney drew money from the bank when he had no funds there, Boggs making the defendant's account balance by the use of other money in the bank or in some instances by withholding the senator's checks until he had made good the deficit.

H. A. Richardson, president of the bank, testified to Boggs' connection with the institution and said it came to the attention of the directors in October, 1895, that Boggs had been gambling. He confessed his fault and was forgiven. Witness had no further reason to suspect Boggs until after his flight in May, 1896. Mr. Richardson said the defalcation was $107,000 and that the bank was able to continue by himself and others guaranteeing the stockholders from any loss and reducing the capital stock from $100,000 to $50,000.

A cause of delay and argument at the former trial was avoided by the admission of numerous checks drawn by Senator Kenney to the order of a number of persons and paid by the First National bank. These covered the period from May to September, 1896, and aggregated nearly $9,000. Of this amount $5,868 represented stock dealings with E. B. Cuthbert & Company of Philadelphia. It was admitted that Senator Kenney signed checks for $4,200 of the amount represented in stock transactions for Boggs' benefit. The remainder represented his own dealings. It was not developed what stock was mainly dealt in, although counsel for the defendant tried to get Mr. Richardson to say the defaulter had dealt in Bay State Gas.

Numerous telegrams between Senator Kenney and Cuthbert & Company were also admitted. They represented calls for further payment on stock and dealings in regard to stock, but none of the telegrams was read to the jury. Court then adjourned.

Shamokin, Pa., Dec. 6.—During a fierce snow and windstorm the breaker of the Enterprise colliery was blown down, causing $100,000 damage. The loss is partly covered by insurance. Congressman William Connell and his son, ex-Mayor Connell of Scranton, are the principal stockholders. The breaker likely will be rebuilt.

TO FIGHT THE TRUST.

Kentucky Tobacco Growers Deliberating in State Convention.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 6.—Three hundred Kentucky tobacco growers are here to attend the state convention. The convention is not composed of tobacco hands and tenants, but of landlords trying to combine against the tobacco trust, which controls half the tobacco output of this country. As Kentucky produces 55 per cent of all the tobacco grown in the United States, the landlords believe they can go into the pool and block the trust. None of the 1898 crop has been marketed. The landlords propose to keep the tobacco at home and borrow money, if necessary, to carry their tenants.

Only a certain amount will be marketed each week. The manufacturers will have to pay more than the average six cents a pound they are now offering or get no tobacco. This year's crop in Kentucky amounts to 250,000,000 pounds and is of excellent quality. The landlords say it ought to be worth 10 cents all around, as the visible supply of old tobacco is less than it has been for years, owing to short crops of last year.

Among the prominent tobacco men already here are P. McGuire, George R. Snyder, W. T. Jones of Louisville; E. C. Gardner of Hart county and L. H. Craig of Scott county. Landlords are here from Bath, Montgomery, Madison, Jessamine, Woodford, Scott, Bourbon and many other counties.

Detroit Shut Out.

Detroit, Dec. 6.—The greatest snow and wind storm ever known here has kept communication by wire from this city practically at a standstill for 24 hours. Street car traffic has been blocked almost completely and general business is demoralized. Hurricane signals were displayed for the first time in the history of the lower lake region. There has been a number of accidents and much damage to property as a result of the blizzard, but there was no loss of life. The storm came from the northwest.

Struck on the Rocks.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 6.—Block Island suffered severely from the storm. The three-masted Nova Scotia schooner Vamoose, loaded with coal, went ashore during the night on Clayhead, on the east side of the island. The captain and mate were drowned. Two of the crew were able to reach shore in safety and four others were taken off by the life saving crew in the breeches buoy. The vessel will probably be a total wreck.

Attitude of the Pope.

London, Dec. 6.—Mr. William T. Stead, editor of the Review of Reviews, who has just returned from the Vatican, gives an unqualified denial of all stories representing that the pope is hostile to the American policy regarding the Philippines. On the contrary, his holiness is ready to co-operate with the United States in restoring order there.

Reward For Murderers.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 6.—The county commissioners decided to offer a reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of ex-Postmaster M. F. Corcoran of Duryea.

Beaten to Pieces.

Boston, Dec. 6.—The schooner Calvin F. Baker, which was driven ashore between Boston light and Brewster during the storm of the 29th ultimo, went to pieces during the gale.

For Life.

Frankfort, Ind., Dec. 6.—Mrs. Sarah Shenkenbarger, charged with poisoning her daughter-in-law, was declared guilty by a jury and sentenced to life imprisonment.

POET AND POLITICIAN.

Deronlede Has Also Been a Duellist and Dramatist as Well.

What would we think of a congressman who had a habit of haranguing crowds on the street corners, who always appeared on the scene when a mob gathered in the national capital, who constantly used the most inflammatory language and who was ever ready to fight a duel? Well, Paul De-ronlede does all of these things, and he is a member of the French chamber of deputies, as he has been for several years.

Of late M. Deroulede has found his opportunity in the anti-Dreyfus riots, and on more than one occasion he has been the leader of a bonnyard mob that has valiantly shouted itself hoarse in denunciation of Dreyfus and all other Jews, and then retired to the cafes for fresh inspiration.

American public life offers no parallel to the character of this man, of whom it has been said that "he was born a poet and became a politician." Deroulede is above all an enthusiast.

When he was a law student of 17, he began writing verses. They were political and patriotic enough to gain the eye of the police, but not good enough to be noticed by the critics. Then he traveled for a year or two and returned to Paris to write a play, which was promptly accepted and produced at the Theatre Francaise. At the beginning of the war with Germany he looked on apathetically, but when he saw France being beaten he rushed to join the army. He fought valiantly and was decorated for bravery. He was also wounded. During the commne he was shot in the arm, and while lying in the hospital wrote that little volume of patriotic verses which made him famous. More than 70 editions were sold within six months.

Then he met Gambetta, and the latter pushed him into politics. Deroulede went at it with a will and founded the Patriotic League, which had a membership of 250,000 within a year. As one of the leaders of the Bonapartist faction he made himself conspicuous by his attacks on the government, and since Boulanger's death he has championed almost every freak of politics. Incidentally he has fought a number of duels, none of which has resulted in much loss of blood on either side.

Dellenbaugh Talks.

Cleveland, Dec. 6.—Judge F. E. Dellenbaugh, against whom charges were made by the bar association on Saturday in connection with the disharment proceedings against State Senator Burke, was on the bench as usual in his court. Before opening court Judge Dellenbaugh, in discussing the charges, stated that he could prove his innocence before any tribunal, and that he would demand an investigation. It is understood that charges against Judge Blandin will be filed with the bar association shortly for slandering Judges Ong and Disette.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The department of state has information from St. Petersburg to the effect that the United States Steamship company has purchased the Thingvalia line in order to secure post facilities at New York, and will operate that line upon the route between the Russian Baltic ports, including the ports of Finland and New York and Boston.

TO INVESTIGATE WAR.

Member of Committee on Military Affairs Presents a Resolution.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Representative Sulzer of New York, ranking Democratic member of the house committee on military affairs, introduced a resolution "authorizing and directing the committee on military affairs to investigate the war department and the conduct of the Spanish-American war." The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, That the committee on military affairs be, and the same hereby is, authorized and directed to investigate the war department and the conduct of the recent war between Spain and the United States, and report all of said proceedings with their findings, conclusions and recommendations to the house of representatives with all convenient speed.

"That said committee is hereby authorized and empowered to send for books, documents, papers and persons, examine persons under oath, sit in any part of the United States, employ a stenographer and that the sergeant at arms is hereby directed to attend said committee and carry out its directions.

"That the necessary expenses of the investigation be paid out of the contingent fund of the house."

The resolution was referred to the committee on military affairs.

Mrs. Cody's Trial.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 6.—The fifth day of the trial of Mrs. Cody on the charge of blackmail was again resumed in the county court with Mrs. Cody on the stand under the cross-examining of Delaney Nicoll, counsel for the Gouds. Mr. Nicoll handed Mrs. Cody a book containing the baptismal record of a church in Cooperville, Clinton county, in which was a record of the baptism of a child, the parents of which were alleged to be Jay Gould and Mrs. Angell, under her maiden name of Sarah Ann Brown, and asked her if she had ever seen the book. She replied in the negative. Counsel stated that the names of the real parents of the child had been erased and those of Jay Gould and Mrs. Angell substituted.

Dr. Andrews Resigns.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—As a result of friction between the Chicago board of education and Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, superintendent of the Chicago public schools Dr. Andrews has tendered his resignation. When Dr. Andrews came to Chicago from the east it was with the understanding on his part, it is claimed, that he was to have full authority as to the appointment of principals and teachers. But nominations made by him have not been confirmed by the board and there has been a decided lack of harmony between the board and Superintendent Andrews.

A Brace of Fatalities.

New York, Dec. 6.—Two deaths resulted from the storm in New Jersey. Mrs. Samuel Eldridge, 60, of Newark, was, with her husband, overtaken by the fiercest of the gale as she was going to the railway station in Elizabeth to return to Newark. Exhaustion came upon her and she died before help could be obtained. While Bridget Costello, a domestic, was returning from a visit to her sister in Jersey City a high fence was blown down upon her and her skull was fractured. Death ensued shortly afterward.

Will Stand Trial.

Cleveland, Dec. 6.—Attorney Johnson of the firm of Hackney & Johnson, the Cleveland attorneys for ex-Mayor Frank Magowan and wife, who were recently brought here to stand trial upon the charge of kidnapping, and who fled to Canada with the child last Friday night, stated that he was confident that Mr. and Mrs. Magowan would be back in Cleveland next Monday, the time set for the hearing on the plea to abate the indictment against them on the charge of child-stealing.

For Embezzlement.

Cleveland, Dec. 6.—J. W. Perkins, son of the late postmaster at Collins, Huron county, and recently a member of the Fifth Ohio Infantry, was arrested for embezzlement. He obtained $125 by draft on a New York bank which had money to the crew of the postoffice department and hid his crime temporarily by destroying the stubs of the drafts.

Weary of Life.

Lebanon, Pa., Dec. 6.—Harry S. Irvine of Glenrock, York county, Pa., a preparatory student at Albright college, this county, and a son of Rev. A. H. Irvine, presiding elder of the Baltimore district of the United Evangelical church, committed suicide by taking strychnine. The cause of the suicide is not known.

Corbett Puts Up.

New York, Dec. 6.—Jim Corbett deposited $1,000 with a sporting editor as a forfeit for a match with Tom Sharkey. Corbett said he was willing to box Sharkey in public, the gate receipts to go to charity, but would prefer to meet Sharkey for $5,000 a side in private.

ALL TOO MAD TO TALK.

Result of a Lengthy Conference of Peace Commission.

DONS IN DEEP DEJECTION.

American Commissioners, While Reticent, Claim Satisfactory Progress Is Being Made—Instructions From Madrid.

Paris, Dec. 6.—The joint commission was in session for over four hours.

Much of the discussion concerned details as to the guaranteeing of the rights of Spanish citizens in the ceded colonies. The debate was occasionally energetic and the Spaniards, on emerging, appeared to be dejected.

Secretary Ojeda of the Spanish commission, when questioned after the meeting as to the progress made, answered excitedly: "I am almost mad. I cannot talk. We are making progress."

The American commissioners declined to say anything further than that the progress made was satisfactory. The Spanish commissioners have received authority to bind their government on certain matters, but there are yet important questions on which their instructions are unsatisfactory and it is likely that many of the details involved in the change of sovereignty in the Spanish colonies will be left for settlement in the regular diplomatic process when relations between the two governments are again resumed.

Departure of Spanish Fleet.

Havana, Dec. 6.—The admiralty officials have announced that the Spanish war vessels will sail hence in the following order: Cruisers Alfonso XII, Infanta Isabel and Conde de Venadito, will leave on Dec. 11 and will go direct to Spain. Transport Rapido, with transport Filipinas in tow; the torpedo boat Vincente Ynes Pinzon and cruisers Hernan Cortes and Ensenada will sail on Dec. 18 and proceed for Martinique, and transport Meteroro, carrying Admiral Manterola and his staff, and cruisers Diego Velasquez and Marques de Molins, will depart on Dec. 25 and will also go to Martinique. Thence the fleet will proceed for Spain, going by way of Cape Verde islands.

Medal For Miss Gould.

Washington, Dec. 6.—General Wheeler of Alabama introduced in the house through Representative Stallings, a resolution providing that in "recognition of the patriotic devotion and bounteous benevolence of Miss Helen Miller Gould to the soldiers of the army of the United States during the war with Spain the thanks of congress are hereby tendered her and congress hereby authorizes and directs that a gold medal with appropriate designs be prepared by the director of the mint and that said medal be presented to her by the president of the United States at such time and in such manner as he may determine."

Ended in Blood.

Havana, Dec. 6.—A dispute occurred in a low resort on Egido street between two discharged American colored teamsters of the quartermaster's department and two Spanish artillery soldiers. Blows were exchanged and these were followed by pistol shots, one of the Spanish soldiers being seriously wounded. One of the colored men, named Campbell, was arrested and taken to artillery headquarters on Compostela street, where he is held for examination. His companion succeeded in making his escape.

As Others Do It.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Lieutenant Colonel R. M. O'Reilly, chief surgeon, and Lieutenant Watson will start in a day or two on the hospital steamer Bay State from New York for Kingston, Jamaica, to make a thorough investigation of the British method of caring for troops in tropical climates. Surgeon O'Reilly is to be the chief surgeon at Havana under the temporary occupation.

From Porto Rico.

New York, Dec. 6.—The United States transport Mississippi arrived in quarantine. She sailed from San Juan, Porto Rico, on Nov. 30, where she was detained some days on a suspected case of yellow fever from Santiago de Cuba, the patient being removed to the lazaretto there.

The Fall of Just Pride.

One day soon after the Mulberry Bend park was laid out in the Italian quarter of New York the man who had had more to do with the good work than any one else was passing there. As he strode happily along, thinking of the tennements that used to stand there, the fresh, clean earth attracted him and he walked out upon it. Stamping joyously about, he exclaimed:

"Fine, fine! They have planted the seed and soon the green grass will spring up under the warm sunshin. It is my proudest!"

Just then a park policeman who had slipped up behind him landed two vigorous whacks on the good man's back. "Git off'n th' grass, ye looney old crank!" he said. "Be off wid ye, quick now, an don't let me ketch ye 'round here ag'in or I'll run ye in. See? G'wan, now."

The philanthropist had leaped wildly to the walk and his fist doubled up with anger, but a second thought, that the "sparrow cop" was right, caused his hand to relax, and the maker of the park "moved on," sore but wise as ever.—New York Times.

The Mystery of the Razor.

It is a matter of common experience that a razor left for awhile unused becomes blunt. A writer in Chambers' Journal says that rust caused by the moisture in the atmosphere is quite enough to account for this. Shearers, for instance, who have to use particularly sharp instruments, never set their shears till just before using. What is not so generally known is that a razor which will not cut will become sharper sometimes by being left aside for some time. The only explanation of this is that the electrical properties of the metal in the edge become changed.

A "wire edge" is commonly put on a tool by amateurs. The steel turns and folds back on itself. It is owing to the edge being made too long and thin, or the metal being too soft. The only cure for a wire edge is to break off the bent portion and grind and set again.

"A knife that cuts better when it is hot" (and under no other circumstances) we sometimes meet with. We have been going into the reasons of things, and the reason of this is easily explained. Heat expands metal, and in proportion to the amount of metal which is heated. There is more metal in the breadth of a blade than in its thickness, and the former, therefore, is expanded immensely more than the latter. In other words, the wedge-like shape is lengthened, and the tool becomes "sharp."

THE GROWERS.

They Are in Earnest in Their Fight Against the Tobacco Trust.

An Immense Crowd at the State Meeting at Lexington—The Resolutions. Other Matters.

That the tobacco growers of Kentucky are in earnest in their fight against the big trust, was evident from the attendance at the State convention in Lexington Monday.

Every tobacco growing county in the State was represented and the Herald says the house was literally packed. Hon. A. P. Gooding and Mr. Scott Osborne were present as delegates from Mason County.

Dr. Hampton, of Milton, was temporary Chairman and Hon. G. R. Keller, of Carlisle, temporary Secretary. In the permanent organization producers only were chosen, the Chairman being W. B. Hawkins, of Fayette, and Secretary W. J. Lisle, also of Fayette.

The report of the committee on resolutions was the first order of business at the evening session. Mr. Lisle, the Secretary, read the report by sections, each section being carried by vote after it had been thoroughly discussed. The following is the report in full after being amended:

Resolved, That, owing to the conditions of the tobacco market, it is the sense of this committee that it is advisable for all tobacco growers of this State to hold their tobacco, if possible, until they can sell their crops at a living price.

Resolved Further, That we, the tobacco growers of Kentucky, extend a hearty welcome to all buyers of tobacco.

WHEREAS, The farmers of Kentucky, who produce one-half of the tobacco of this country, have heard with dismay that a gigantic trust has been formed for the purpose of controlling the price of every pound of tobacco raised in the United States; and whereas prompt and vigorous action is necessary to prevent or dissolve this unlawful and monstrous organization.

Therefore be it Resolved, By the tobacco growers in convention assembled:

First, that an organization of the tobacco farmers in the State of Kentucky is necessary to protect our interests.

Second, that the organization this day formed be made permanent.

Third, that a committee of three be appointed to wait upon the Attorney General of the State and the United States District Attorney, and urge them to appropriate action to dissolve or enjoin said trust and that said committee be empowered to employ associate counsel if necessary.

Fourth, resolved that a committee of five intelligent, conservative and practical tobacco farmers be appointed by the Chair as a Board of Directors, of which the Chairman and Secretary will be ex-officio members, whose duty it will be to draft rules and regulations for the government of an association to be known as The Tobacco Growers' League; said board is hereby empowered to elect a Treasurer, to employ a clerk, rent an office and to collect funds by donation or membership fees to defray its expenses.

Fifth, that said board is empowered to employ a State organizer to visit every county in which tobacco is grown, and to assist in necessary and organize local leagues in every voting precinct, whose members, or delegates will compose the county league, whose members or delegates will compose the State league, which will assemble at Lexington or other place named by the Chairman.

Later Hon. A. P. Gooding read the following resolutions, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the tobacco growers of other States be requested to meet at their county seats and organize State leagues to co-operate with us.

The committee to wait on the Attorney General and U. S. District Attorney and urge them to take the action requested was appointed Monday night and left Tuesday for Frankfort and Louisville.

MASON COUNTY GROWERS ASKED TO MEET NEXT MONDAY.

A meeting of the farmers of Mason County will be held at the court house, this city, next Monday at 1 p. m. The BULLETIN is requested to urge all tobacco growers to be present.

THE monthly statement of the State Treasurer, issued, shows a balance of $413,000 in the treasury after paying out $350,000 to school teachers in November. Interest-bearing warrants to the amount of $400,000 were taken up since December 1st, 1897, with the fund arising from the increased rate of taxation provided for in May, 1897.

ONE Paris firm has shipped 17,000 turkeys this season from Paris, Carlisle and Flemingsburg, and the season is only about half over. Five other Bourbon dealers have shipped 6,000 turkeys. The fowls have brought from seven to ten cents per pound on foot, the average price being one dollar per turkey. It is estimated that twelve thousand turkeys have been shipped from Bourbon so far this season. Chas. Gilman, of Lexington, has shipped about 15,000.

THE Court of Appeals will adjourn for the fall term on the 15th or the 17th. The end of the term, under the rules, would have concluded the session on the 10th, but the court has decided to extend the session. An opinion in the Election Commission case will probably be rendered before the adjournment. After the adjournment Chief Justice Lewis retires and Judge Hobson will go on the bench when the court reconvenes in January. Judge Hazelrigg will be Chief Justice under the new organization and arrangement according to length of service. The last two years each Judge serves as Chief Justice.

MISS PAULINE HELM HARDIN, State Librarian, has reduced the price on the Kentucky Reports of Decisions of the Court of Appeals from $3.60 per volume for first editions to $2 per volume, and from $1.80 to $1.40 per volume on second editions. This reduction is made in accordance with the printing law authorizing the State to sell those books at 20 per cent. in excess of the actual cost to the State of the publication, making plates from the first editions, etc. The reports have been sold at the high rate fixed twenty years ago, and the cheapness of printing has enabled Miss Harding to make the reduction. It was made with the consent of the Court of Appeals, and will be good news to the lawyers of the State, who have for years had to pay prices higher than the law requires.

IMPORTANT I. O. O. F. QUESTION

Just Decided by the Grand Sire in a Case Taken Up From This State.

A question of importance to Oddfellows has just been decided by the Grand Sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge. He holds that "a member, in good standing, of a subordinate lodge can resign membership therein at any time before charges have been preferred against him."

The decision was made in a case taken up from the Kentucky Grand Lodge. A member of a subordinate lodge in Western Kentucky engaged in the saloon business. He knew this laid him liable to expulsion, and asked that he be permitted to resign his membership. Grand Master Gaunt decided that this could not be permitted, but that charges must be preferred and the member expelled.

The case was taken to the Grand Lodge at its last session. The Committee on the State of the Order presented a majority and minority report. The majority composed of Messrs. W. W. Morris, A. D. Cole of this city, A. J. Reed and Charles A. Wilson reported in favor of allowing the member to resign. The minority, Judge Durham, Thomas James and Dr. Meredith, reported in favor of sustaining the action of Grand Master Gaunt, and their report was adopted.

The Grand Sire now reverses this decision, and holds that the member can resign.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at J. Jas. Wood's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

One Between Maysville and Flemingsburg Again Talked Of at the Later Place.

[Fleming Gazette.]

Mr. W. S. Fant was in Cincinnati recently and called on the General Manager of the L. and N. railroad with a view of securing a reduction of freight rates to and from Flemingsburg.

The rates at present are very high, and the L. and N. gentleman promised to give the matter his attention and try if possible to have a reduction made. The other day Mr. Fant received a letter saying that after viewing over the situation the officers of the road could not see their way clear to make any cheaper rates than those in effect at present.

There is strong talk now of organizing a stock company to build an electric railroad from here to Maysville. Such a road could be built without any great expense by running along the Maysville and Mt. Sterling turnpike; it would no doubt be a great convenience and benefit to the people here. The road could be operated without great expense and would be a money maker.

Our neighborhood was shrouded in gloom last week by the sudden death of little Alberta Sloupe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sloupe, aged six years and eleven months, which occurred Thursday morning at ten minutes past 8 o'clock, of blood poisoning, resulting from the scratch of a cat, which inflicted only a slight denture, but the wound became aggravated by the pressure of the shoe. The parents called in the family physician, whose keen eye detected the seriousness of the case, his countenance plainly indicating his anticipation of the fact that he had been called too late. The parents were grief-stricken when he pronounced it a case of blood poisoning. The little sufferer had a severe attack of diphtheria in September from which she never entirely recovered, always complaining of a misery of the stomach and a tired feeling. The remains were followed to their last resting place Friday morning by a large number of relatives, sympathizing neighbors and friends, and tenderly laid to rest in the Maysville Cemetery. The parents have the sympathy of the entire community in their deep sorrow.

Thus a once cheerful home is darkened.
A mother's heart now throbs with pain;
A chair is vacant, a circle is broken,
But the angels rejoice at Heaven's gain.

This little flower so fair and tender,
Only to earth a few short years given,
Is now an angelic bright guiding-star,
That lights the way to Heaven.

John Holliday, while attending services at Stonelick one night last week, had his buggy wheels exchanged by some unknown party for a set of broken-down wheels tied up with wire. Mr. Holliday did not discover the change until the next morning. The wheels were traced to Flemingsburg where some parties had offered some turkeys for sale. It is reported there were turkeys stolen in the neighborhood the same night that the wheels were exchanged.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Some Grades of the New Crop in Strong Demand at a Slight Advance—Better Class of Old Also Higher.

[Furnished by Glover & Durrett, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.]

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 1,921 bbls., with receipts for the same period 766 bbls. Sales on our market since January 1st amount to 96,085 bbls. Sales of the crop of 1897 on our market to this date amount to 76,917 bbls.
There have been 656 bbls. of new burley offered during the week. The grades selling from $8 down were very strong at prices a few bids higher than were paid last week. The common colory flyings and trashes also met an active demand at prices certainly as high as have ruled at any time since the new tobacco began to come forward. The better leaf that sold from $9.50 to $11.75 met only limited competition and was less satisfactory to both warehousemen and sellers than any grade offered. We cannot help thinking these sorts will bring more money in the near future. The advance we predicted some weeks ago in good sweet old burley made its appearance last week. Smooth, red leaf in good order that has been selling from $9.50 to $12 showed an improvement of from 2 to 3c. We look for a still further improvement in this grade of tobacco, as the stocks of such are very small. The common and medium fanned sorts, that have been selling between 5 and 8c., were in strong demand at prices several bids higher than they would have brought at any time during the past two weeks. The real common sort suitable only for smokers, that have been selling below 6c., show a very decided improvement this week.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco (1897) crop:
Trash (green or mixed).....$ 4 00@5 00
Common colory trash.....5 50@7 00
Medium to good colory trash.....7 00@10 00
Common lugs, not colory.....7 00@8 00
Common colory lugs.....7 50@9 00
Medium to good colory lugs.....9 00@11 00
Common to medium leaf.....9 00@13 00
Medium to good leaf.....10 00@15 00
Good to fine leaf.....13 00@18 00
Select wrapery leaf.....18 00@25 00

SEEMS AS IF all the things we like disagree with us, and all the things we don't like, agree with us. Dyspepsia lurks in most of the good things we eat, and indigestion follows the gratification of appetite. Of course, it isn't nature's fault. Nature does the best she can, and if a man will only help her a little bit at the right time, he may eat what he likes and as much as he likes. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for people who are troubled with indigestion. Particularly for those in whom it manifests itself in the form of constipation. The "Pellets" are quick and easy in their action. They are in perfect harmony with nature. They effect a permanent cure. You need take them regularly only a little while. After that, use them occasionally when you need them—when you have eaten anything that disagrees with you. They may be taken just as freely as you would take water or any other necessity of life. Once used they are always in favor.

GREAT SEA ARSENAL.

PORTSMOUTH DOCKYARDS, THE CRADLE OF ENGLAND'S NAVY.

A Barometer on Which the Signs of Peace or War May Be Plainly Read. Where Fleets of All Sizes Are Always on Tap.

The surest index to the state of England's foreign relations is the big navy yard at Portsmouth. It is an unerring barometer on which the signs of war or peace can be read as plainly as a patent medicine advertisement on the side of a barn. Just now the signs read "war."

For the past few weeks the docks of England's great naval arsenal have been humming with activity. At Devonport and Chatham there has been a similar stir. Across the channel has come an echoing hum from Brest, Cherbourg and Toulon, but it has only served to increase the bustle on the Portsmouth wharfs.

When there are no warclouds on the diplomatic horizon, Portsmouth is a drowsy, dignified port. In the wide harbor swing dozens of old hulks, some of them famous in history. There is the Victory, Nelson's old flagship, now in its one hundred and twenty-seventh year, and good for another century. Beside it are other grand old naval relics of which all Englishmen are proud. Other hulks are used as training ships, and from these can be drawn the thousands of sailors necessary to man the ships of an increased navy in times of emergency.

But when war threatens the wharfs swarm with red coated marines and hastily summoned jackies. Big steel cruisers crowd the old wooden hulks and busy little launches puff about the harbor. The hotels are full of naval officers and the wires are hot with messages.

The full possibilities of Portsmouth dockyards are known only to the British naval authorities, but it is said that lying in the harbor are scores of discarded hulks which could be sent out inside of a few weeks with armor on their sides, guns on their decks and men to man them. Roughly speaking, it is estimated that the partially or wholly dismantled fighting ships in the waters of the dockyard are capable of being converted into a fleet of battle-

A BUSY DAY AT PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD. ships, cruisers, dispatch boats, gunboats, torpedo destroyers and auxiliary ships as formidable in guns, men and offensive power and not inferior in speed and seagoing qualities to the entire French Mediterranean fleet at present in actual commission and on the station. Plans for the arming, refitting and conversion of these ships into modern improved fighting machines, with the latest destructive equipments, are said to be now practically ready for carrying out in detail as fast as the exigencies of the service may require.

Portsmouth of today is a congeries of villages grown into towns. Sunny Southsea, the suburban home of the wives and families of naval officers and dockyard officials, has become a fashionable watering place, until scarcely a vestige remains of the earlier village. Laudport, with its long rows of cottages, in which the dockyard men formed a colony by themselves, has almost grown out of recognition, with its magnificent city hall and other palatial buildings. There the theater immortalized by Dickens now has its rival, and a populous city.

Last, but not least, Portsea, "a mere exorcism of the dockyard," as one writer calls it, if it has not increased in size, has certainly put on a brighter and more prosperous appearance. These offshoots, encircling the old town, gradually dwarfed their parent until, at last, when the ancient fortifications were leveled and laid out in gardens and recreation grounds, the old became merged in the new, and the parent was lost in the embraces of her children.

But Portsmouth proper must always retain its individuality in one respect. Neither Southsea, with its villas, nor Laudport, with its halls, can take from it the characteristic features which are its glory and its renown. It is with Portsmouth that Englishmen connect the first appearance of a regular naval establishment, when, by order of that eminent prelate who was, as it were, secretary of the navy to King John, the docks for the war galleys were inclosed in a fortification and penthouses were built for their tackle. Portsmouth and its yard were very small affairs in those days, when the navy of England consisted of about 50 galleys.

Though not perhaps the first established—since Deptford and Woolwich claim priority—Portsmouth dockyard has, since its foundation in 1512, been the principal national institution of the kind. On its slips some of the finest ships have been built, and from its wharfs the noblest wooden walls and ironclads of England have taken their departure. There are few monarchs who have sat on England's throne who have not paid Portsmouth dockyard a visit, and many foreign potentates have seen and marveled at its numerous docks, sheds, factories and basins busy with naval preparations unequalled on the face of the globe.

Vienna.

Here we have a proud, imperial city, rather disdainful of trade, aristocratic and easy going, conscious of a long past, its rulers still animated with the conviction that they are the successors of Charlemagne and Otto, looking on Berlin as parvenu, on London as merely commercial, on Paris as half crazy. Excepting in the domain of music, Vienna is not a home of art and culture, but it is a center of dignity and grace and a certain calm air of superiority, which, however, does not offend. It is content to look on while other places explore and write and toil and push and strain; it stands on its rank; it can never forget its 16 quarters and its claims to high estate.

Vienna is most interesting perhaps as the meeting place between east and west, where the fine gentleman rubs shoulders in the afternoon lounge along the Graben with the Bosnian peasant. The guardian of Europe's ancient order, the center of a great and most interesting empire, the city of leisure and of a pride so lofty that it does not know itself to be pride at all, Vienna is both a charming city and an important political center, as she will continue to be, no matter what is the fate of the Austrian empire.—London Spectator.

M. de Fontenelle's Bright Speeches.

M. de Fontenelle, a young fellow who did not see that a lady was in love with him: "You are very young. You can only read large print."

A preacher said: "When Pere Bonadone preached at Rouen, he caused a great deal of disorder. The workmen left their shops, the doctors their patients, etc. I preached there the following year and set everything right."

A lady 90 years of age said to M. de Fontenelle, who was 95, "Death has forgotten us." "Hush!" replied Fontenelle, putting his finger on his lips.

A conceited doct interrupted a conversation by, "I have an idea." A wit remarked, "Astonishing!"

A corrier said, "After the death of his majesty there's nothing one can't believe."

M. de Fontenelle, then in his ninety-seventh year, having just paid Mme. Helvetius a thousand pretty compliments, passed her on his way to the table, without seeming to notice her. "See," said Mme. Helvetius, "what account I should take of your gallantry. You went by without looking at me." "Madame," said the old gentleman, "if I had looked at you I should not have passed by you."—Gentleman's Magazine.

Desperate.

"I want a horse and trap for a funeral. Can you let me have them?" inquired the young man in the loud check suit of the cantons liveryman, whose stock occupies the same place in his affections that a wife and family should.

"Well, if you're careful," replied the cautious liveryman slowly.

The turnout was at last ready, and while the young man in the loud check suit was arranging himself in his seat the proprietor patted the horse, an especial favorite, tried the buckles of the harness, shook the shafts and performed all the usual ceremonies due upon such an occasion. Then, as he handed up the reins, he said absently: "He's very willing and quick. Be careful not to drive too fast."

The young man regarded him in surprise for a moment, and then assented: "Well, I'm going to keep up with the funeral if it kills him!"—London Answers.

A Bride to Her.

Polk Miller of Richmond is known as a raconteur of plantation life in the south before the war. One story told by Mr. Miller will well bear repetition. An old darky named Absalom was the favorite attendant of a widower acquaintance of Miller, and as rumor had it that the widower intended taking unto himself a second wife Miller asked Absalom if it were true. Absalom scratched his woolly pate for a moment and replied that he reckoned it was. "Well," said Miller, "will he take a bridal tour?"

This somewhat puzzled Absalom for an instant; then an inspiration struck him, and he said, "I dunno 'bout a bride, sah, but when de ole missus was 'livo he used to talk a paddle to her; so maybe he talk a bride to de new one!"—Exchange.
